THE YAD VASHEM ENCYCLOPEDIA OF THE GHETTOS DURING THE HOLOCAUST

Editor-in-Chief: Guy Miron; Co-editor: Shlomit Shulhani

This pioneering project gathers data from research studies, historical information, testimonies and documents dealing with more than 1,100 ghettos throughout mainly Eastern Europe. It reflects the differences between each ghetto and reveals the radical changes in Jewish communal and individual life. The entries include the location, wartime name and geographical coordinates of each ghetto; and, for the larger ghettos, informational sections on the following: Pre-World War II; Soviet occupation; German (Nazi) occupation; ghetto setup; ghetto institutions and internal life; murder, terror and killing operations of ghetto inhabitants; underground and resistance; and number of survivors at liberation.

Finalist of the 2010 National Jewish Book Award in the category of Holocaust Studies, and selected for the Booklist/RBB Editors' Choice: Reference Sources Awards.

ENCYCLOPEDIA OF THE HOLOCAUST

Editors: Robert Rozett and Shmuel Spector

Encyclopedia of the Holocaust is a comprehensive, authoritative reference that provides reliable information on this ignoble and frightening episode of modern history. It features eight essays on the history of the Holocaust and its antecedents, as well as coverage of such topics as the history of European Jewry, Jewish contributions to European culture, and the rise of antisemitism and Nazism.

The essays are followed by more than 300 photographs and approximately 650 entries on significant aspects of the Holocaust, including people, cities and countries, camps, resistance movements, political actions, and outcomes. In addition, there are entries on such topics as American Jewry and the Holocaust, Holocaust denial, the Holocaust in films and music, Nazi propaganda, youth movements, museums and memorials.

THE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF JEWISH LIFE

Before and During the Holocaust

Editors: Shmuel Spector and Geoffrey Wigoder

The Encyclopedia of Jewish Life Before and During the Holocaust represents the fruit of more than three decades of labor at Yad Vashem. Based on a thirty-volume encyclopedia published only in Hebrew, this accessible edition reclaims in illustrations and prose the distinctive culture lost during the Holocaust and makes this invaluable resource available in English for the first time.

The encyclopedia features more than 6,500 communities, clarifies precise locations of settlements, traces their development, and shares small details of everyday life; 600 photographs and illustrations; 17 pages of maps; chronology; glossary; complete bibliography; indexes of communities and personalities.

THE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF THE RIGHTEOUS AMONG THE NATIONS

Rescuers of Jews
during the Holocaust

Editor-in-Chief: Israel Gutman

Hard cover, 22X28 cm.

The concept of "Righteous Among the Nations" is based on the Talmudic saying, "He who saves one human being is as if he saves an entire world". The more than 23,000 Righteous Among the Nations are from all nationalities, religious denominations, and social groups, each with a deeply human story of the preservation of human values in the midst of absolute moral collapse.

"In the darkness of the Nazi occupation, a few lights flickered: the Righteous Among the Nations... Yad Vashem has commemorated those who risked their lives, who heeded nothing but their hearts and their human conscience, and who rescued Jews."

RESEARCH STUDIES

A MAN OF COURAGE IN AN INHUMAN TIME

Berthold Beitz in the Third Reich

Bernd Schmalhausen | Translator: William Templer

In July 1941, a young German man, Berthold Beitz, came to the city of Boryslaw in eastern Galicia to take up the position of business manager in an oil refinery. There he witnessed the ongoing destruction of the Jews. Unhesitatingly, he requested that the Jews be handed over to him as indispensable skilled workers and issued false work certificates for them; thus, he succeeded in rescuing several hundred Jews from the death trains bound for the Belzec extermination camp. Berthold Beitz was honored as a Righteous Among the Nations at Yad Vashem.

AT THE MERCY OF STRANGERS

The Rescue of Jewish Children with Assumed Identities in Poland

Nahum Bogner | Translator: Ralph Mandel

The fate of the surviving Jewish children during the Holocaust is one of the most charged and sensitive issues relating to this period. The book discusses the rescue of children who lived and survived under assumed identities in Poland among various strands of the Christian population – in towns, in villages and in convents – as well as the efforts made by various bodies after the war to locate the children. The author describes how the emotional closeness so essential for survival made it so hard for the children to leave their host families after the war.

The First Nazi Mass Extermination Camp

Shmuel Krakowski | Translator: Ralph Mandel

This is the only study on Chelmno, the first death camp on Polish soil and the model for setting up the machinery of mass murder. Mass killings, mostly of Lodz Jews and gypsies, began in December 1941 and continued until the Red Army liberated the camp in January 1945. Only a few who operated the death camp were ever brought to justice.

CONSCRIPTED SLAVES

Hungarian Jewish Forced Laborers on the Eastern Front during the Second World War

Robert Rozett

From the spring of 1942 until the summer of 1944, some 45,000 Jewish men were forced to accompany Hungarian troops to the battle zone of the Former Soviet Union. Most of them fell prey to battle, starvation, disease, and labor, aggravated by brutality and murder at the hands of the Hungarian soldiers. This book deals with this issue that is integral to understanding the destruction of Hungarian Jewry in the Holocaust.

DISPLACED PERSONS AT HOME

Refugees in the Fabric of Jewish Life in Warsaw, September 1939 - July 1942

Lea Prais | Translator: Naftali Greenwood

With the occupation of Poland, the Germans began to deport Jews from towns and villages in order to concentrate them in preparation of the planned annihilation. A large portion of the deportees were concentrated in Warsaw and pressed into the confines of the ghetto. Large numbers succumbed to death from hunger, disease and infection. This book deals with the implications of the deportations on the life of the Jews in the Warsaw Ghetto.

EUROPE IN THE EYES OF SURVIVORS OF THE HOLOCAUST

Editors: Zeev Mankowitz, David Weinberg, Sharon Kangisser Cohen

In what sense was the European heritage responsible for Jewish cultural and intellectual development? How could one describe the events of the Holocaust? Was there a future for Jews in a reconstructed Europe? A group of scholars suggests a more nuanced view by examining the perspectives of ten survivors – philosophers, activists, and memoirists – whose attitudes towards the European past were characterized by conflicting feelings of alienation and attraction.

GATES OF TEARS

The Holocaust in the Lublin District

David Silberklang

This book examines the Shoah in the Lublin District. Its analysis traces forced population movements and forced labor, constants in German policy, the bitter early memory of which influenced Jews' later actions. Many hid or fled the deportations to death camps and forced labor, fearing an extreme return of earlier experience, unable to grasp the Final Solution. Lublin was a contradictory district – few ghettos yet little survival.

TESTIMONY AND TIME

Holocaust Survivors Remember

Sharon Kangisser Cohen

The book examines the development of individual survivor testimony in order to identify if the changing context influences survivors' accounts of their past. Early accounts were taken in the immediate post-war years and latter interviews were conducted over 50 years later. Analysis of these texts has demonstrated the remarkable resilience of survivors' memory of the past over time. Whilst there is a strong continuity in memory of the core stories, this study also reveals an important shift in the way survivors construct and interpret their experiences over time.

THE JEWS ARE COMING BACK

The Return of the Jews to their Countries of Origin After WWII

Editor: David Bankier

As WWII ended, masses of Jewish survivors of the Holocaust attempted to return to their countries of origin, but were met with demonstrations and pogroms, and they were forced to live together with the perpetrators and bystanders. This volume offers new perspectives on the subject, and contributes to our understanding of the manner in which the returning Jews were received by governments, aid organizations, and societies in general.

THE KASZTNER REPORT

The Report of the Budapest Jewish Rescue Committee 1942–1945

Rezső Kasztner | Editors: László Karsai and Judit Molnár

Rezső Kasztner was one of the most controversial Jewish figures to emerge from war-torn Europe. A leader of the Budapest Jewish Rescue Committee, Kasztner became the point man for negotiations with the SS to save Hungarian Jewry. In the 1950s many in Israel vilified him for “selling out” his Jewish brethren. Kasztner was assassinated in Tel Aviv following a spectacular postwar libel trial. Today scholars see him in a different light and his Report is one of the main reasons for the re-evaluation of the man.

THE MAN WHO WAS MURDERED TWICE

The Life, Trial and Death of Israel Kasztner

Yechiam Weitz | Translator: Chaya Naor

Was Kasztner a collaborator and opportunist who failed to warn the Transylvanian and Hungarian Jews of their impending fate in order to survive and save those close to him, or a brave leader who saved as many Jews as he could to escape on the “rescue train” in June 1944? The present volume provides new information on the controversy, based on new documents.

THE HISTORY OF THE HOLOCAUST IN ROMANIA

Jean Anel | Edited by Leon Volovici | Translator: Yaffah Murciano

The Romanians related differently to “their Jews” and “other Jews” – those living in districts annexed to Romania after WWI and in areas annexed to the Romanian military administration after the Soviet invasion. The Jews of the Regat suffered pogroms and degradation, but on the whole they survived the Holocaust. Of all of Nazi Germany's allies, Romania most contributed to the Jewish people extermination.

THE HOLOCAUST IN THE SOVIET UNION

Yitzhak Arad | Translator: Ora Cummings

Reports, documents, and research enable Arad to trace the Holocaust in the German occupied territories of the Soviet Union through three separate periods. Arad's research reveals how Nazi ideological attacks on the Soviet Union led to harsher treatment of Jews there than in most other occupied territories. THE ORIGINS OF THE FINAL SOLUTION

The Evolution of Nazi Jewish Policy, September 1939 – March 1942

Christopher R. Browning

In 1939, the Nazi regime made plans to re-draw the demographic map of Eastern Europe and expel millions of Jews. By late 1941, the plans had shifted from expulsion to systematic and total mass murder of all Jews. This book analyzes the ways the Nazis' racial policies evolved from ethnic cleansing to the Final Solution. THE HOLOCAUST IN HUNGARY

Selected Papers of the Tauber Fund for Research on the Holocaust in Hungary and Hungarian Jewish History

"CHANGING OF THE GUARD"

WITHIN AND BEYOND THE TRIANON BORDER

Two Case Studies: Hódmezővásárhely and Szabadka, 1938–1944

Linda Margittai

A comparative presentation of case studies on the implementation and impact of Hungary's antisemitic state policies in two towns in southern Hungary. This paper shows that Hungary's anti-Jewish policies were not introduced as a result of Nazi pressure, rather, Hungary's own antisemitic laws that came into effect from 1938 envisaged a social and economic "changing of the guard" – the transference to non-Jews of property held by Jews.

JEWISH CHILDREN IN NAZI-OCCUPIED POLAND

Early Postwar Recollections of Survival and Polish-Jewish Relations During the Holocaust

Joanna Beata Michlic

Through an in-depth textual analysis of eyewitness testimonies, the author reconstructs various categories of child survivors and the ways in which they coped with social relations on the Aryan side in Nazi-occupied Poland, using concepts of “performance” pioneered by Goffman. These testimonies bring a new dimension to issues of betrayal and hostility as well as of sacrifice and dedication, creating a broader view of historical representation through pictures of individuals.

YAD VASHEM STUDIES

Editor: David Silberklang

Yad Vashem Studies is an academic journal featuring articles on the cutting edge of research and reflection on the Holocaust.

Yad Vashem Studies is a must for any serious library seeking to offer the essential texts on the Nazi era and the Holocaust.

"Yad Vashem Studies has been at the forefront of research into the Nazi persecution and mass murder of the Jews, its origins and its consequences... indispensable for researchers and teachers alike. David Silberklang, as editor, has displayed a remarkable talent for balancing the output of grizzled veterans with the challenging findings of younger researchers... No library that purports to offer students and teachers the essential historical texts on the Nazi era and the fate of the Jews can afford to be without Yad Vashem Studies." [David Cesarani, The Journal of Holocaust Education]

Beginning with volume 35, Yad Vashem Studies comes out twice annually, in spring and fall, making our contributors' important research available to our readers more quickly and more readily. We have also redone our layout in order to make it more reader friendly. Our rigorous high standards remain unchanged.

YAD VASHEM STUDIES VOLUME 42:1 (2014)

The subject matter in this issue of Yad Vashem Studies is varied and the geography far-flung, but questions of human relations during the Shoah – between Jews and their non-Jewish countrymen as well as among Jews – are a central theme and connecting thread. The articles address wartime Jewish accounts, rabbinic responsa, the destruction of a Jewish community and its ancient cemetery by local officials and Germans, camps, and regional issues in many parts of Europe, presenting both little known subjects and new documentation. The contributors, who come from six countries and provide insight from multiple perspectives: Lea Prais; Leon Saltiel; Judit Konya; Liliana Picciotto; Avihu Ronen; Dalia Ofer; Anna Hájková; Maud Mandel; and Bob Moore.

YAD VASHEM STUDIES VOLUME 42:2 (2014)

This issue of Yad Vashem Studies addresses diverse aspects of people's attitudes and behavior toward Jews during and after the Shoah. Many of those analyzed in the articles herein were "ordinary" people, across a broad geographic and social spectrum. The research articles address Jewish calendars produced in Auschwitz-Birkenau; local Slovak attitudes toward Jews; a German medieval scholar's role in the Shoah; a rabbi's theological thought in 1940; and survivors' national identity through Yiddish in Israel. The contributors, representing a wide range of perspectives, languages, and countries, include: Alan Rosen; Eduard Nižňanský; Cordelia Hess; Asaf Yedidya; Gali Drucker Bar-Am; Randolph Braham; Michael Marrus; Eliot Nidam Orvieto; Michael Shafir; and Jan Grabowski, with letters by Jan Láníček and Florent Brayard.

POSTCARDS TO A LITTLE BOY

A Kindertransport Story

Henry Foner (Heinz Lichtwitz)

Henry Foner, who had lost his mother at a young age, was sent from Berlin to Wales and lived there with a Jewish couple who provided him with a warm, loving home. From the moment they parted, Henry's father sent him colorful illustrated postcards written in German and later on in English. This authentic and moving document presents the postcards and letters that Henry received from his father and other relatives and friends, along with their translation.

AND GOD SAW THAT IT WAS BAD

A Story from the Terezin Ghetto

Otto Weiss | Editor: Ruth Bondy | Translator: Iris Urwin

What would have happened if God had heeded one man's prayers in the Theresienstadt ghetto, and had taken on human form to help him? This unusual personal novella by Otto Weiss, dedicated to his wife for her birthday in June 1943 and illustrated by their daughter Helga, then 13, is a unique creative reflection of life in the ghetto – suffering, fear and alienation with moments of humanity and hope. The surprising conclusion raises fascinating moral and theological issues. Weiss was murdered in Auschwitz-Birkenau in October 1944. His wife and daughter survived and retrieved the book.

LAST LETTERS FROM THE SHOAH

Edited by Walter Zwi Bacharach | Translator: Batsheva Pomerantz

"These are my last words..." is a sentence found over and over again in this unique volume of letters written by those who would not survive the Holocaust. The letters were uncovered over 60 years, hoarded by the victims' families and friends, and ultimately collected by Yad Vashem. These letters were sent from the ghettos, hidden in cattle cars and train stations, and smuggled out of the concentration camps. They reveal the raw emotions of mothers, fathers, sisters, and brothers, trying desperately to tell their story before it is too late. Some believed they might survive and their letters reflect their hopes and aspirations for the future, the anxieties of the present, and the bittersweet memories of the past.

THE GURS HAGGADAH

Passover in Perdition

Editors: Bella Gutterman and Naomi Morgenstern

Translator: Nechama Kanner

In 1941, the inmates of the Gurs detention camp in Southwestern France decided to hold a Seder on Passover, the Holiday of Freedom, in order to declare their own freedom from the terror of oppression. Replete with photographs, and featuring a facsimile of the actual Haggadah recreated from memory and used in the camp, this unique document sheds light on a little known camp where, despite the stresses and sub-human conditions, the people enriched their own lives by organizing both religious and cultural activities.

THE WOLFSBERG MACHZOR 5705

Wolfsberg Labor Camp, Germany, 1944

Editors: Bella Gutterman and Naomi Morgenstern

Translator: Lenn J. Schramm

On 27 Elul 5704 (September 15, 1944), Naftali Stern, a Hungarian Jewish inmate of the Wolfsberg forced-labor camp, part of the infamous Gross-Rosen slave labor complex, finished writing out the Rosh Hashanah service. He did so from memory, writing with a pencil stub on scraps torn from bags of cement he had purchased with bread rations. Stern transcribed the prayers in haste, during the week before Rosh Hashanah. Many years later, Naftali Stern deposited these pages with the Yad Vashem Archives.

TO BE A JEW IN BERLIN

The Letters of Hermann Samter, 1939-1943

Edited by Daniel Fraenkel | Translator: Bronagh Bowerman

What was it like to be a Jew in Nazi-dominated Berlin, to have no freedom of movement, to be forced to wear a Yellow Star and watch friends be transported or commit suicide? The group of 19 letters left behind by journalist Herman Samter, head of the classified section of Jüdisches Nachrichtenblatt, the last Jewish newspaper to remain active after Krystallnacht, is a rare historical document of Jewish Berliners in the shadow of deportation and death.

A HIDDEN DIARY FROM THE ŁÓDŹ GHETTO, 1942–1944

Heinek Fogel | Translator: Helene Sinnreich

"There is terrible hunger in the ghetto; people are trying to scrape by on 28 decagrams of bread per day... they are collapsing in the streets from exhaustion..."

The diary of Heinek (Hersz) Fogel was written in the Łódź Ghetto during the Holocaust. Through those difficult days, Hersz recorded some of the most horrible portions of the ghetto experience – his father's death, the deportation of his brother, the overwhelming hunger endured and other tribulations of his family and friends. After miraculously surviving Auschwitz and other concentration camps, Hersz returned to Łódź where he retrieved the diary.

CAN HEAVEN BE VOID?

Baruch Milch | Editor: Shosh Milch-Avigal | Translator: Helen Kaye

"On Friday, September 1, 1939, the day WWII broke out, my real life began to end... only a few of us will survive..."

Dr. Baruch Milch's wife was murdered along with his young son and his faith. In his utter loneliness, the Galician physician, having lost all that was dear to him, wrote his story on thousands of pages, pieces and scraps of paper to maintain his sanity and leave testimony. The diary became a testament for his relatives and an indictment of the Germans and the Ukrainians. His daughters supplemented the reconstituted diary with their memories of the "living dead man" who was their father.

FROM FIUME TO NAVELLI

A Sixteen-Year-Old's Narrative of the Fleischmann Family and Other Free Internees in Fascist Italy, September 1943 – June 1944

Luigi Fleischmann | Editor: Daniella Zaidman-Mauer

"It was guarded by military police... we moved out, armed only with some pistols and hand grenades..."

This diary documents a little-known aspect of the Holocaust – the plight of Jewish "free internees" in Italy during WWII. It describes the unique predicament of Jewish residents following the passage of the Nazi racial laws in Italy. Luigi was incarcerated with his parents in Navelli – a small village in the Abruzzi region in the center of the country – from September 1943 to June 1944. The lucid descriptions are enhanced by outstanding drawings of the area and the events.

LETTERS NEVER SENT

Amsterdam, Westerbork, Bergen-Belsen

Mirjam Bolle

"I am vain enough to believe that this diary may be found hundreds of years from now and serve as an important source of information..."

In early 1943, Mirjam Levie from Amsterdam, began to write letters to her fiance Leo Bolle, who had immigrated to Eretz Israel a few years earlier. Her letters, which were never sent, were written during the deportations from Amsterdam, her incarceration in Westerbork, and her imprisonment in Bergen Belsen. As secretary in the "Jewish Council of Amsterdam", Mirjam's letters are the only source remaining to describe events from the viewpoint of one of its members. The book presents these unique and moving letters, forming a personal diary of real time.

RUTKA'S NOTEBOOK

January–April 1943

Rutka Laskier | Editor: Daniella Zaidman-Mauer

"I have a feeling that I'm writing for the last time. There is an Aktion in town. I'm not allowed to go out and I'm going crazy..."

Descriptions of alarming moments are intertwined with private and banal thoughts in the notebook of 14-year-old Rutka Laskier from Będzin, who documented her life during a few months in 1943. The outside world slowly closed down on her, but these few sheets of paper reflect the entire universe of an adolescent Jewish girl in the shadow of death. Initial buds of womanhood, first loves, freindships, and jealousy are recorded in detail in the midst of deportations, fear, horror and death.

YOUTH WRITING BEHIND THE WALLS

Avraham Cytryn's Lodz Notebooks

Avraham Cytryn | Translator: Chaya Naor

"Sometimes it is actually hate that ignites the fever of creativity in me. Because I am as extreme in love as I am in hate..."

Avraham Cytryn was 13 when he was interned in the ghetto. In those arduous days he wrote prose and poetry, both of which read like a lament on the fate of the incarcerated Jews of Lodz, doomed to starve and perish. Avraham took one notebook with him. The rest remained in the house in the ghetto and after the war, they were found thrown on the floor, torn and stained. These notebooks present the reader with a direct and trenchant account of the terror and the despair.

MEMOIRS

A JEWISH POLICEMAN IN LWÓW

An Early Account, 1941-1943

Ben Z. Redner | Translator: Jerzy Michalowicz

Ben Z. Redner was born in Lwów, Eastern Galicia. His position as a Jewish policeman offered him some privileges but also put him on the frontline of the German's demands. Redner paints a detailed picture of the roundups, the search for food, the crowded housing and, most importantly, securing a job, which was crucial in order to receive Ausweise (ID cards) that provided certain rations and immunity from Aktionen. Redner's story is an adaptation of his memoir, written two years after the war ended, making this a rare first-hand account of life in the Lwów Ghetto.

REMEMBERING REGINA

My Journey to Freedom

Fanny Bienenfeld Lust

Journeys are a leitmotif of Fanny Bienenfeld Lust's moving memoir. The book opens with her recounting her grandparents' life in Galicia and their journey to safety during WWI, then focuses on her own immediate family's life in Europe and their remarkable escape in September 1939, orchestrated by Fanny's mother, Regina. Fanny and her family moved from Tarnow, Poland, to Berlin in 1930, but returned to Krakow shortly before WWII began. A series of events set in motion the family's flight from Europe. By air, land, and sea, the family crisscrossed their way to freedom; first to Trieste and Genoa, Italy, then to Tangier, Morocco, back to Seville and on to Lisbon, and, finally, to the U.S.A.

THE FIRE AND THE LIGHT

Herman Kahan | Foreword by Elie Wiesel | Translator: Dahlia Pfeffer

Chaim Hersh Kahan is from Elie Wiesel's home town of Sighet, Transylvania. His happy pre-war childhood and yeshiva studies were followed by confinement in the ghetto and transport to Auschwitz. He and his father survived selection by Mengele, followed by slave labor in Wolfsberg and Ebensee. Sustained by his father's spiritual strength, Kahan survived and was liberated. Kahan, who completed rabbinical studies, also provides a fascinating insight into Jewish faith and philosophy. The book is both a memorial for his family and a "thank you letter" to Norway and to decent human beings.

WE ARE WITNESSES

Zvi Asaria-Hermann Helfgott

The author, PhD, rabbi and Yugoslav Army officer in World War II, spent four years in Germany among Yugoslavian Jewish officers who were prisoners of war. With distinct literary skill, the author paints a broad scene of those days and delineates fine-tooled descriptions of the atmosphere engulfing the captive Jewish officers, Bergen-Belsen after the liberation and the dreams and struggles of the camp survivors. After liberation, he devoted great effort in the Displaced Persons camps, provided spiritual support and organized survivors for their immigration to the Land of Israel.

LOCKED IN THE DARKNESS

Retrieving a Hidden Girl's Identity from the Holocaust

Sabina Heller

Desperate to save their infant daughter Sabina from being murdered with Radziwiłłow's Jews, her parents gave her to Christian neighbors before going into hiding, but they were found and murdered. The foster family was neglectful, so the Roztropowiczkes took Sabina in and gave her a warm, loving home. After the war they were persuaded by Jewish representatives to restore Sabina to her people. At the Łódź orphanage, Sabina was adopted by the Goszczewskis and they moved to Israel. After her mother's death, Sabina reconstructed her past and reconnected with her Polish family, who were honored as Righteous Among the Nations.

A PHYSICIAN INSIDE THE WARSAW GHETTO, 1939-1943

Mordechai Lensky | Foreword by Samuel Kassow

A gripping account of a Jewish doctor in the Warsaw ghetto, struggling against all odds to provide medical care to a community condemned to squalor, disease, and death. The memoir also provides singular insights into many aspects of ghetto life, including the massive building of bunkers in late 1942 and early 1943. The Lensky family escaped the ghetto in March 1943 and hid on the "Aryan" side of Warsaw under assumed identities.

BY THE GRACE OF STRANGERS

Two Boys' Rescue During the Holocaust

Gabriel Mermall; Norbert Yasharoff | Foreword by David Silberklang

Includes two father-son rescue stories. Mermall's diary relates his story as a slave laborer in the Hungarian military's Labor Service, and his rescue in 1944 together with his son. Eleven-year-old Yasharoff was forced to move with his family into the Sofia Ghetto, an experience that inspired him to express himself through poetry.

DAYS OF RAIN

Enzo Tayar

Drawing on the diary that he kept for the year 1943, Enzo Tayar recounts the impact on his family and friends of the increasingly severe anti-Jewish measures instituted by Italy after the German invasion. Tayar fled Florence taking refuge on a succession of farms throughout Tuscany. The family was reunited after the liberation.

ESCAPING HELL IN TREBLINKA

Israel Cymlich; Oskar Strawczynski | Foreword by David Silberklang

Two remarkable documents written by two survivors of that hellish darkness while the authors were still in hiding, unsure if they would succeed in evading the Nazis. Cymlich's memoir provides a rare insight into the Treblinka I forced labor camp's brutal daily life. Strawczynski's memoir is one of the earliest written eyewitness accounts of the August 1943 uprising in Treblinka.

FIGHTING FOR SURVIVAL

E. H. (Dan) Kampelmacher | Foreword by Dan Michman

The author left his family and fled his native Vienna to Holland. There he was imprisoned in the state prison at Veenhuizen, where he wrote a diary relating his experiences in 1938. The book goes on to tell of his survival during the war working on Dutch farms, acquiring forged documents from the underground, and in hiding.

GUARDED BY ANGELS

How My Father and Uncle Survived Hitler and Cheated Stalin

Alan Elsner | Foreword by David Cesarani

The story of two Jewish brothers forced to flee Poland in 1939. Arrested by Soviet authorities, they were transported to Arctic labor camps. Released 18 months later, they traveled thousands of miles across the USSR. They were drafted into the Red Army, and participated in the Soviet advance through Poland and into Germany.

MEMOIRS OF AN UNFORTUNATE PERSON

The Diary of Moty Stromer

Moty Stromer | Foreword by David Silberklang

Marek (Moty) Stromer lived with his entire family in Kamionka until the outbreak of WWII. His memoirs recount his experiences in the Lemberg ghetto, the vicious treatment he suffered at the hands of local Ukrainians, his imprisonment in the Janowska forced labor camp, his escape from a deportation transport to the Belżec death camp, and ultimate rescue in the barn of his Christian neighbor from Kamionka.

(2008, 252 pp.) ISBN: 978-0-9814686-0-0, Cat. No. 487

ON THE FIELDS OF LONELINESS

Hersch Altman | Foreword by Shimon Redlich

The remarkable memoir of a young boy, who survived the murder of his family and the destruction of his town, while evading his pursuers. He vividly depicts his early years in Brzeżany, and the hardships of the Soviet occupation. He relates the brutality of the Nazi occupation, the intolerable life in the ghetto, the horrors of the Aktionen, and the ingeniously constructed bunker that eluded the Nazi soldiers and their dogs.

(2006, 184 pp.) ISBN: 0-9760739-7-8, Cat. No. 442

PATH OF HOPE

Menachem Katz | Foreword by Shimon Redlich

Menachem Katz relates his escape from the mowing down of the last Jews of Brzeżany at the cemetery in 1943 through his experiences hiding in a bunker with seven other people. He describes life in hiding in detail, as well as the relationship with a family of Poles who assisted them in survival. Katz relates the severe difficulties of daily existence in the closed and crowded spaces, alongside some moments of humor.

STARS WITHOUT A HEAVEN

Children in the Holocaust

Exhibition Curator and Editor: Yehudit Kol-Inbar

"When I grow up and reach the age of 20, I'll set out to see the enchanting world... I'll fly, sail, hover... Skyward shall I ascend and blossom" [Avraham Koplowicz, aged 13, Lodz Ghetto, 1943. Avraham was murdered in Auschwitz-Birkenau in 1944]

This exhibit focuses on aspects of the doomed Jewish children's narratives that can augment and enhance the efforts of present-day audiences to grapple with the meaning of the Holocaust. Children's youthful testimonies and accounts generally reflect limited awareness or comprehension of the impending and unavoidable catastrophe, but they also contain moving, often eloquent, expressions of vibrant imagination, vital sensitivity and keen intuition. Strikingly, some Jewish children were even able to experience hope and articulate faith in the future.

DOUBLE SIGNATURE

Portraits of Personalities from the Terezin Ghetto

Max Pláček | Exhibition Curator: Bella Shomer-Zaitchik | Editor: Bracha Freundlich

These drawings force us to re-examine the question of spiritual courage, man's struggle to preserve humanity. In our context, Pláček makes us look at life in the Terezin ghetto in the shadow of death, a life that ended in the death camps for most of the people that he drew. It should be perceived as an arresting artistic document as well as an historical record.

THE END!

Radom and Szydłowiec Through the Eyes of a German Photographer

Editors: Bella Guterman and Nina Springer-Aharoni

The photographic album of Radom and the nearby community of Szydłowiec is the work of an unknown German photographer who documented the scenes and events he had witnessed during his stay in this region, and later added short captions to the photos – the street scenes; the Jewish cemetery; the figures of the women, children and men; the suffering and the poverty of the Jews; and the exceptional and shocking scenes of the Jewish victims' deportation as well as the looting of the property.

This publication is a powerful photographic document that presents the end of two Jewish communities and reflects the fate of many other Jewish towns and villages in Poland.

THE PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE HOLOCAUST

Editor: Yitzhak Arad

This extraordinary compilation of photos, maps, and explanatory text is one of the most unique and informative reference works on the Holocaust. After outlining the antisemitic and racist sentiment present in Eastern Europe, Dr. Arad discusses the foundations for Hitler's twisted beliefs, and then recounts the escalation of Hitler's ideas. Many of the book's more than four hundred photographs were taken at a time when such photography was against the law in Germany and its occupied lands.

THE VISIT OF POPE JOHN PAUL II TO YAD VASHEM, JERUSALEM

March 23, 2000

On March 23, 2000, Pope John Paul II paid a historic visit to Yad Vashem. At the Hall of Remembrance, the Pontiff delivered his remarks. The Pope's remarks were intended to affirm the centrality of the Holocaust in the history of the Christian civilization. The Pope called for active, continual remembrance of the Holocaust, not only in empathy for the victims of the Holocaust but also as a principal goal for the individual human being who wishes to struggle against evil.

Moshe Safdie: The Architecture of Memory

Articles by Joan Ockman, Moshe Safdie, Avner Shalev, Elie Wiesel

Yad Vashem was established in 1953. In 1957 a first building opened with administration, archive, and library facilities, followed in 1961 by the ceremonial Hall of Remembrance and a basic exhibit. A museum was inaugurated in 1973, and over the years a series of institutional spaces, memorials, gardens, and artworks were added. This culminated in Spring 2005 with the inauguration of a museum of Holocaust history and ancillary structures, designed by Moshe Safdie. This book explores how architecture copes with commemoration.

DIE YAD VASHEM ENZYKLOPÄDIE DER GHETTOS WÄHREND DES HOLOCAUST

Hrsg.: Guy Miron und Shlomit Shulhani

Die zweibändige Enzyklopädie versammelt Forschungsergebnisse zu mehr als 1100 Ghettos in Osteuropa. Sie bietet detaillierte Einträge zu zahlreichen, auch kleineren Orten, in denen die europäischen Juden während des Zweiten Weltkriegs eingeschlossen waren, bevor die meisten von ihnen ermordet wurden. Zusammen mit einführenden Texten und einem umfangreichen Anhang informieren die einzelnen Einträge über variierende Namensgebungen, geografische Koordinaten und – soweit möglich – über das jüdische Leben vor dem Krieg. Zudem informieren sie über Errichtung und Existenzdauer des jeweiligen Ghettos, den Alltag seiner Bewohner, den institutionellen Aufbau und die Führungsstruktur, über Terror und Mordaktionen, ausgeführte und geplante Widerstandsaktionen und die Anzahl der Überlebenden.

Nominiert für den National Jewish Book Award in der Kategorie Holocauststudien (USA) und ausgewählt für den Booklist/RBB Editor's Choice Award (USA) in der Kategorie Nachschlagewerke.

UND GOTT SAH, DASS ES SCHLECHT WAR

Erzählung aus Theresienstadt

Otto Weiss

Diese von Otto Weiss verfasste Erzählung ist sowohl ein einzigartiges literarisches Werk wie auch ein Augenzeugenbericht. Und Gott sah, dass es schlecht war wurde vom Autor in Theresienstadt verfasst und war ursprünglich nur als Geburtstagsgeschenk für seine Frau Irena gedacht. Es entstand in Zusammenarbeit mit seiner jungen Tochter Helga, die ihr künstlerisches Talent einbrachte. Und Gott sah, dass es schlecht war handelt von den Erfahrungen Gottes, der nach Theresienstadt hinabsteigt. Die Erzählung macht greifbar, wie schwer Otto Weiss angesichts der Bedingungen mit seinem Glauben und seinen Mitmenschen haderte. Das Resultat seiner Anstrengungen ist ein einzigartiges, literarisches Zeugnis aus dem Holocaust.

DAS AUSCHWITZ ALBUM

Die Geschichte eines Transports

Hrsg.: Israel Gutman und Bella Gutterman

Das Auschwitz-Album ist ein einzigartiges Dokument. Es zeigt aus der Perspektive der Täter die Ankunft eines Transports ungarischer Juden im Mai 1944. Systematisch photographiert ein SS-Mann die Menschen und hält alle Stationen dieses Tages vom Aussteigen über die Selektion bis hin zum Warten vor den Gaskammern emotionslos fest. Unter den Deportierten befindet sich auch Lili Jacob. Sie überlebt Auschwitz. Nach einem Schwächeanfall entdeckt sie in ihrem Krankenzimmer das Album, auf dessen Aufnahmen sie ihren Rabbiner, Verwandte und auch sich selbst erkennt. Sie nimmt es an sich.

DAS ENDE!

Radow und Szydlowiec in den Augen eines deutschen Fotografen

Hrsg.: Bella Gutterman und Nina Springer-Aharoni

Das Fotoalbum von Radow und Szydlowiec ist das Werk eines unbekannten Deutschen, den es in diese Städte verschlagen hatte und der dort Ansichten und Geschehnisse, deren Zeuge er wurde, fotografierte. In den Fotos der Juden spiegelt sich das Auge des deutschen Fotografen, das mit Anteilnahme die verzierten Grabsteine auf dem jüdischen Friedhof, das Leiden der Juden, die Gestalten der Frauen und Kinder sowie deren Ermordung durch Angehörige seines Volkes betrachtet. Die in diesem Buch präsentierten, eindringlichen Fotos des Albums legen Zeugnis vom Ende zweier jüdischer Gemeinden ab, die stellvertretend für viele jüdisch geprägte Städte und Dörfer in Polen stehen.

ENCICLOPEDIA DE LOS GUETOS DURANTE EL HOLOCAUSTO

Editor general: Guy Miron; coeditora: Shlomit Shuljani

Traductor al castellano: Jorge Gon

Este proyecto pionero de investigación consiste en una recolección sistemática de estudios existentes, información histórica, testimonios y documentos, que se refieren a más de 1.100 guetos, diseminados en su mayoría en Europa oriental. Este material presenta las diferencias entre los distintos guetos y descubre los cambios radicales que tuvieron lugar en la vida judía comunitaria e individual. Los artículos incluyen la ubicación, los nombres durante la guerra y las coordenadas geográficas de cada gueto. En los guetos más grandes la información consta de las siguientes secciones: el período de preguerra; la ocupación soviética; la ocupación alemana (nazi); la organización del gueto; sus instituciones y vida interna; asesinatos, aterrorización y operaciones de matanza de los habitantes del gueto; movimientos clandestinos y resistencia; el número de sobrevivientes en la liberación.

Finalista en el Premio Nacional de Estados Unidos al mejor Libro Judío en la categoría de Estudios del Holocausto y elegido para la lista de libros RBB / Selección del Editor: Premio a fuentes de referencia.

SHOÁ

Enciclopedia del Holocausto

SHOÁ – Enciclopedia del Holocausto presenta al público de habla castellana una amplia y comprehensiva información, actualizada en base a serias investigaciones de las ciencias históricas y sociales, tanto de los hechos como de las circunstancias históricas que hicieron posible ese monstruoso crimen. Las investigaciones abarcan también las actitudes y posiciones de los países de América Latina ante el genocidio del pueblo judío, lo cual constituye una importante innovación en el ámbito de los estudios sobre la SHOÁ.

CON LAS MANOS ATADAS

El liderazgo sionista y el Holocausto, 1939-1945

Dina Porat

Este estudio de Dina Porat se destaca entre los trabajos publicados por su generación, tanto por los temas controversiales que aborda como por el nivel académico de su investigación y la honestidad intelectual de su presentación. Las conclusiones de Porat, libres en la medida de lo posible de posturas ideológicas, no pretenden ser definitivas, lo que demuestra la sensibilidad de la autora a los temas tratados. Al mostrarnos de manera notable la compleja gama de actitudes de los dirigentes de la Tierra de Israel ante los hechos en Europa. [Saúl Friedlander]

ENTRE LA ACEPTACIÓN Y EL RECHAZO

América Latina y los refugiados judíos del nazismo

Editado por Avraham Milgram

Esta colección de artículos investiga las políticas inmigratorias de los gobiernos latinoamericanos con respecto a los refugiados judíos del nazismo en los años 1933-1942. Incluye bibliografía, fotografías e índice.

«Es una seria contribución a la escasa literatura existente sobre el tema, proyectando la política de restricción a la inmigración sobre un amplio panorama doméstico e internacional...» [Allen Wells, The Americas, 61:2, octubre de 2004]

REFLEXIONES SOBRE EL HOLOCAUSTO

Yehuda Bauer

Yehuda Bauer, uno de los mas importantes historiadores del Holocausto, presenta un analisis concienzudo e invita al lector a profundizar la comprension de su historia y sus significados, con una perspectiva honesta y tambien critica de los planteos realizados en el pasado por otros investigadores y por el mismo. Bauer sugiere nuevos enfoques de temas fundamentales de la investigacion del Holocausto abordando preguntas dificiles: ¿Que fue el Holocausto y como se lo puede explicar? ¿Es posible compararlo con otros casos de genocidio? ¿Como reaccionaron los judios? ¿Como se explica el Holocausto desde diferentes perspectivas judias? ¿Que relacion hay entre el Holocausto y el establecimiento del Estado de Israel?

EL LIBRO NEGRO

Vasili Grossman e Ilyá Ehrenburg

Cuando el 22 de junio de 1941 el ejército alemán cruzó la frontera de la Unión Soviética dio comienzo uno de los más espeluznantes episodios de la Segunda Guerra Mundial – el exterminio de diversos pueblos, y muy principalmente del pueblo judío. Vasili Grossman e Ilyá Ehrenburg compilaron los testimonios de los supervivientes para que el mundo conociera la insondable magnitud del horror. Cientos de testimonios llegados a sus manos o recogidos por medio de entrevistas a las víctimas sirvieron para erigir un monumento hecho de sangre y heroísmo, el de quienes padecieron el encierro en los guetos y tomaron el camino de la ejecución; el de los pocos que se atrevieron a desafiar a los verdugos.

"ESTAS SON MIS ÚLTIMAS PALABRAS..."

Cartas póstumas del Holocausto

Editado por Walter Zwi Bacharach

"Estas son mis últimas palabras..." es una sentencia que se repite una y otra vez más en este volumen único de cartas escritas por aquellos que no sobrevivieron el Holocausto. Las cartas, descubiertas durante los últimos 60 años, estuvieron guardadas por las familias y amigos de las víctimas, y finalmente recogidas por Yad Vashem. Estas cartas fueron enviadas desde los guetos, estuvieron escondidas en vagones de ganado, en estaciones de trenes y contrabandeadas de los campos de concentración.

HAGADÁ DE PÉSAJ DEL CAMPO DE GURS

Pésej 5701/1941: La historia de un campo de detención en Francia

Editado por Bella Guterman y Naomi Morgenstern

Edición facsímil de un manuscrito con ilustraciones de la Hagadá de Pésej del campo de concentración de Gurs (Francia), en donde prisioneros judíos celebraban la fiesta de la libertad detrás de los alambres de púa. La mortalidad era muy elevada debido a las condiciones de vida inhumanas, bajo frío glacial, comida escasa, arenas movedizas, y barracas que apenas otorgaban abrigo. En el verano de 1942 la mayoría de los internados fueron trasladados a Drancy, y de allí a Auschwitz.

PLEGARIAS DE ROSH HASHANA 5705

Campo de Trabajo Forzado, Wolfsberg, Alemania, 1944

Editado por Bella Guterman y Naomi Morgenstern

Edición facsímil de las plegarias de Año Nuevo escritas de memoria por el cantor litúrgico húngaro Naftali Stern, sobre trozos de papel de sacos de cemento en el campo de trabajos forzados de Wolfsberg. Éste era un campo subsidiario del complejo de campos de trabajos forzados de Gross Rosen, en el cual existían condiciones de vida particularmente difíciles. Aún bajo las más severas condiciones los judíos continuaron celebrando sus festividades.

AUSCHWITZ

el Álbum fotográfico de la Tragedia

Editado por Israel Gutman y Bella Gutterman

Este álbum único documenta, en sus 200 fotos tomadas de todos los ángulos, el proceso de llegada, selección, confiscación de propiedades y la antesala de la muerte de un transporte de judíos de Carpato-Rutenia, región de Checoslovaquia anexada en 1939 por Hungría. El transporte llegó a la rampa de Birkenau en mayo de 1944. Esta edición incluye una fotografía que se había dado por perdida durante años y proporciona la identidad de los deportados.

TESTIGOS SILENCIOSOS

Historia de objetos de la colección de Yad Vashem

Haviva Peled-Carmeli

Durante años la mayoría de los sobrevivientes del Holocausto no eran conscientes del valor público del objeto que habían tenido en sus manos: un peine, un fragmento de papel, una muñeca, un dibujo, un costurero. El equipo del Departamento de Objetos del museo histórico de Yad Vashem, dirigido por Haviva Peled-Carmeli, promovió tareas de recolección para recoger artículos auténticos, remanentes del sufrimiento humano, que constituyen un monumento recordatorio a las personas asesinadas. En el libro «Testigos silenciosos» se revelan las historias detrás de los objetos, en un intento de conservar y perpetuar las vidas y las almas de sus dueños.

Fort Montluc, Drancy, Auschwitz-Birkenau, Ghetto de Varsovie, Dachau, Kaufering, Allach

Maxi Librati

Mardochée Maxi Librati, jeune juif sépharade de la communauté de la banlieue de Lyon, est l'aîné de 13 enfants. Il se retrouve seul, à 18 ans, face à la barbarie nazie. Tout au long de son combat contre l'horreur quotidienne, il restera optimiste, et croira en sa bonne étoile. À Auschwitz-Birkenau, il pense naïvement qu'il va travailler. Il a été sélectionné pour nettoyer le ghetto de Varsovie, ensuite il échappera à la mort dans les marches de Varsovie-Kovno et de Dachau à Kaufering. C'est après une dernière marche Kaufering-Allach qu'il sera libéré par les américains.

POÈMES ÉCRITS À BERGEN-BELSEN EN 1944

En sa Treizième Année

Uri Orlev

Depuis son arrivée en terre d'Israël Uri Orlev (Jerzy Henryk Orlowski) a conservé pendant plus de soixante ans un petit carnet de poche à couverture rouge sur lequel, à 13 ans, il avait recopié quinze poèmes écrits au camp de Bergen-Belsen où il fut déporté. Quinze poèmes qui témoignent de cette vitalité opiniâtre de l'enfant confronté à la barbarie, et de la place unique de la poésie dans le dialogue secret qu'il entretient avec lui-même.

IL N'Y A PAS D'ENFANTS ICI

Dessins d'un Enfant Survivant des Camps de Concentration

Thomas Geve

Très peu d'enfants survécurent à l'extermination planifiée par Hitler. À la Libération, le jeune Thomas est si faible qu'il est contraint de rester un mois de plus dans le camp de Buchenwald. Aidé par les prisonniers, il réalise alors une série de dessins et tente ainsi de témoigner de l'indicible. En quelques traits, Thomas Geve a su rendre l'horreur absolue. Après Le Journal d'Anne Frank, texte poignant sur la clandestinité, devenu le symbole du génocide juif à travers le monde, l'œuvre graphique de Thomas Geve est un témoignage unique dans l'histoire de la déportation et contribue au devoir de mémoire de la Shoah. Une description bouleversante de l'intérieur des camps.

PRELUDIU LA ASASINAT

Pogromul de la Iași, 29 iunie 1941

Jean Ancel

La o săptămână după ce trupele germane și române au atacat Uniunea Sovietică, comunitatea evreilor din orașul a fost zguduită de un pogrom de mari proporții, inițiat de autoritățile românești, cu sprijinul trupelor germane aflate în oraș. Pe lângă miile de evrei uciși în cele două zile ale măcelului (29-30 iunie 1941), alte mii de evrei au pierit în sinistrela «trenuri ale morții». Istoricul Jean Ancel a reconstituit întreaga pregătire și desfășurare a masacrului pentru a discolpa pe cei vinovați de organizarea și executarea măcelului.
